Frederick Kirby Gets Walk- ing Papers From Inter- ior Department.

SECRETARY APPARENTLY MADE

Accuses Stenographer of Treachery But Says It Was Futile—Character- izes Investigators as Ones Who Seek to Discredit Administration.

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A special delivery letter signed by Richard S. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior, dismissing Frederick Kerby was sent to the stenographer's home today. The letter read:

"You are hereby discharged from the service because you are unworthy to remain. In divulging information obtained by you in your confidential relations as stenographer to the Secretary of the Interior in communicating information to those whom you are to bring reproach upon the Administration and injure me; in deliberately misstating material facts as to what you did treacherously communicate; you show yourself unworthy and unfaithful. The fact that your treacher-

Stenographer Kerby said today that he considered President Taft's letter to Chairman Nelson, explaining the circumstances of the preparation of the Lawler memorandum, a vindication of his statement.

"It is a substantiation of my story in every particular," he declared.

DR. HOLMES MAY

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Senator Oliver was an early caller at the White House Saturday with J. Frank Tillam of Pittsburgh, in advance of a delegation in behalf of presidential favor for the bureau of mines bill. Senator Oliver had to leave to attend to an important committee meeting. He and Senator Penrose will see the President to day when the latter returns from Philadelphia, and will urge the President to approve the bill and appoint Dr. J. A. Holmes of the Geological Survey director.

'SMALL BOYS' ARRESTED

At South Connelville Here For Trespassing on R. & O.

On Saturday the 14th Thomas Phillips, Baltimore & Ohio railroad policeman at South Connelville, arrested Allen Stewart and his brother Clyde and Earlo Bigham, three young boys of the place for trespassing on the R. & O. tracks, and brought them before Squibb Brown, who gave the lads some wholesome advice.

cont. The boys claimed they were on their way to the catfish hole near where the ruins of the old Spear and Works Co. are, to fish a bit. Of course the safer way is the public road leading to the Phalin has notified the parents of these and other small boys that their passing on the railway must cease.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Made Against Mike McColla of the West Side.

Mike McColla was given a hearing Saturday afternoon before Judge P. M. Buttermore of the West Side on terling a camp train at South Connellsville. McColla gained an entrance to the car by breaking a pane of glass in the window. He stole a pair of shoes, underpants, but before he made his es-

McColla was arrested by B. & O. Police Officer Frank J. Young. He was held for June court, and was committed to jail following the hearing.

Owing to services held in the fore-
Catholic Churches of town yesterhundreds of foreigners came in from the surrounding coke towns. The street cars were crowded during the morning and until well on in the afternoon.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis.

Less Expense Involved Than by Other and Less Effective Methods.

Hundreds of people have cured themselves of tuberculosis by a very simple, inexpensive, home method, which is called the Eckman's Alternative.

This Alternative is not a new medicine. It has been known for centuries, and is the only cure for tuberculosis that has been proved to be effective.

Think what this means. No spiritualist's fees, no sanatorium charges, no traveling expenses, no expensive food and milk, no long stays in hospitals. Eckman's Alternative has cured many people right in their own homes, where their dearest ones are waiting for them.

Sanatorium treatments build up the body, but do not destroy the disease germs so that after the sanatorium treatment is discontinued, you are left believing that you are cured, only to find that you are still suffering from tuberculosis.

Now, if you have been faithful to Eckman's Alternative, it will be amply repaid by your improvement. If not, you will find that you are still suffering from tuberculosis.

TEN POWERFUL REASONS WHY!

Showing That the Aaron Store Really Earns All Your Trade All the Time.

1. The patterns we now show are from one to two seasons in advance of all other stores in Western Pennsylvania.

2. Every up-to-date idea in furniture has had its first showing in the Aaron store.

3. The best homes in Connellsville contain Aaron furniture, many of them to the exclusion of all others.

4. When you purchase here you are sure of securing designs that are the very newest and latest.

5. Nothing here is shopworn; our stock is fresh and brand new.

6. We carry but one pattern of every good design; no two alike; therefore you are sure of exclusiveness and different from your neighbor.

7. We do not accept any Tom, Dick and Harry brand of goods that happens to come along; we are particular in seeing that we get none but the supremely best.

8. We are exclusive sales agents for the most prominent furniture factories of Grand Rapids, the hub of the furniture world.

9. A glance through our enormous establishment will prove that we are originators, not imitators.

10. We extend clean, dignified, honorable credit to every deserving person; and we mark every blessed price in plain figures.

The "Hoosier Special" Kitchen Cabinet excels all kitchen cabinets in quality, and is fully 25% less in price than any other kitchen cabinet on the market. If you have ever heard anybody say all kitchen cabinets are alike do not believe them. The "Hoosier Special" is different and superior to all others. Roomier, many cabinets may look alike on the outside, just as some pianos resemble the Steinway piano, but quality may not unfold itself until after months of service. BE INDEPENDENT Buy a California Farm

J. S. & W. S. Kuhn, of Pittsburgh, Pa., have recently opened up for cultivation by irrigation a large tract of land in the Sacramento Valley, Cal. Home seekers are taking up this land rapidly. There is no more fertile land on the continent than in this wonderful valley. Oranges ripen here six weeks earlier than they do in Los Angeles or Riverside. The climate is milder than that of Southern Italy. There is no winter—no snow or ice. Twenty acres in this valley will yield more net profit than eight times that much land in the east.

Why not buy a farm in California to-day? Don't waste your time working for someone else when you can be your own master and live in the garden spot of this continent. Build your home in the Sacramento Valley where the enormous grain ranches which have been farmed for the past half century are now being turned into the enormously more valuable small fruit farms.

Leave the dirt, work and poor climate of the east and live in California's continual sunshine. The initial cost is but $15 an acre. Will you write to-day to learn more about this wonderful opportunity. Send 10c in stamps for specially prepared and handsomely illustrated booklet, "California, Now or Never."

THE GAS COMPANY'S DISCOURTEOUS MANAGEMENT.

The patrons of the Fayette County Gas Company in Connelville and surrounding communities have a just complaint against the management of that company for its dangerous discourtesy of yesterday.

The shutting off of natural gas without notice is very inconvenient and it is seldom voluntarily done; but in the present case, the statement of the officers of the company indicate that the gas was turned off deliberately without notice.

However this may be, it is plain that not only as a matter of courtesy to their customers, but also as a safeguard against danger, the gas company should use all possible effort to acquaint its customers with the situation, when it is necessary to shut off the gas supply on when it fails for any reason beyond the company's control, and, especially to inform them at about what time they may expect the gas to be turned on again.

The local officials of the gas company adopted a diametrically opposite course yesterday. They looked the Connelville office and refused to answer telephone calls asking information. Calls over their private telephones remained unanswered.

The executive officers of the Fayette County Gas Company should try to teach the local management the meaning of common courtesy and to impress upon the minds of those in brief authority but big the recognized fact that good manners beset good business.

A natural gas company may be compelled to shut down sometimes, but it should never shut up.

THE RAMSHACKLY COW AND THE DUTY OF THE STATE.

Burgess Evans has issued a stern edict against the cow with a crumpled horn and the ramshackly gait who would pasture on Connelville's well-kept lawns.

We congratulate the burgess on this evidence of his civic pride and his alertness in meeting the requirements of civic duty.

It is time Connelville was adopting the modern policy of compelling owners of cows to fence them in instead of requiring citizens to fence them out.

A city beautiful is impossible where buccannoning bovines are permitted to work their sweet will upon any man's premises. "Every man's house is his castle," but the time has passed when that castle is required to be composed of turrets and mounds and walls and drawbridges, or when its defenses must be guarded by the strong arm of the lord of the manor supplemented by the pikes of his retainers.

The state has undertaken that duty for a proper consideration, and it is up to the state to meet its obligations.

The State Constables arrested for alleged assault on striking miners in the Ligonier strike may be guilty, but it is more than doubtful. The State Constables are trained to cooperate and put down any and every strike, and are instructed in their duties under the law.

The comet is in the sunlight now and will soon be in the limelight.

The Klondike slouts and their organ have been convicted of Mauchausenism.

Pay days are numerous and welcome.

Connellsville Tax Collectors are busy on the 15th just now. That's the way they ought to be every day.

The Courier is somewhat crowded just now, but it continues to print the news as well as to present the propositions of live merchants to discriminating buyers.

When a steam boiler lets go death dances with grief.

The Uniontown Herald announces that the contract for the construction of the Connelville & State Line railroad "from New Haven to Cumberland" has been let. It seems to hurt some people to mention Mud Island by its real name.

Wympe's Gap is getting entirely too gay.

Western Maryland Common is likely to become very uncommon in time.

The new B. & O. schedule will contain new trains as well as new times. Watch for it.

The West Penn is always called upon to furnish delegates for a trolley meeting anywhere in the United States, and the delegates are usually men who contribute materially to the wisdom of the gatherings.

The Somerset county lads who set out to make a veteran bandit set him up succeeded handsomely in getting joyfully upset.

The Bunco Game has all Ages for its own, and its remedy is the Charity Committee.

The recent frosts have not affected the crop of Fayette county lawyers, but the frosts of explanation may nip them a trifle.

T. Roosevelt, Great American and Great American Traveler, is reported to be studying social problems in Europe. The character of the study is not elucidated, so we are left somewhat in doubt as to whether the late President in studying social scandal, spiritual squallor or socialistic symptoms.

Corset Facts

Popular Priced Corsets Reflecting All the Essential Features That Go to Make Up the Corset Ideal. Prices $1.00 to $5.00.

The foremost desire of almost every modern woman is to become stylish and graceful, and to attain that slender-appearing figure decreed by fashion. You can experience the realization of this ideal as hundreds of others have done by being fitted with one of our up-to-date models. It matters not whether you be slender, average or stout, the corset to suit your particular style is here in every size. No other garment is more essential as the corset is the foundation of every perfect fitting gown.

The "Nemo," the "Bon Ton" and the "Royal Worcester" possess all the style virtues sought by women of refined taste and good judgment. Even the slightest detail has been well considered and perfected in these, to say nothing of the comfort to be derived therefrom. We will be glad to show and explain our new models whether you purchase or not.

Where correct styles, perfect fitting, good materials and fair prices are fully considered the Armstrong make of low cuts take first place. Many women know this from their own experience with the goods—others from hearing their friends speak of them. We want all the wearers of high grade footwear to know for themselves the satisfaction to be had from the Armstrong make. It's the one make of shoes that all traveling salesmen, whether competitors or not, have a good word for. They recognize the high standing and good qualities of the goods. All patents, dull leathers and tans this spring are one price—$3.75. The best values you ever purchased for the money. The instep strap and two-hole ribbon tie with wing tips are two of the popular styles—there are plenty of others though, and it's only a matter of selection. Have them in A, B, C and D widths. We assure you a perfect fit and it will be a pleasure to show them to you.

JACOBS CREEK CHURCH BELL.

One Given by the Morgan Station Congregation Rings for First

TIME FOR SERVICES THERE

Pay Day Passed Off Quietly—Firemen's Dancing Series Commences. Other Notes of News in the Big Westmoreland County Town.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTSVILLE, May 16.—For the first time in nearly half a century the sound of a bell called the people to worship in the Jacobs Creek Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon. The present brick church was built many years ago, and before that a rude log building was one of the early meeting places. When the Morgan Church was abandoned the bell was left alone as a relic of the building and was recently presented to A. B. Taylor, Jacob Kooser and C. D. Hixson, who have been conducting the Union services at Morgan Station. They are members at Jacobs Creek and the idea of placing the bell on the Jacobs Creek church came to them at once. A bell was put up, and with the appreciated help of Roadmaster Owen A. Littlehouse and a number of his men, who were working on the road nearby, the heavy bell was lifted in a few minutes and a testing was made of the bell's clear, resonant voice. It rang again yesterday afternoon for Sunday school and then for preaching by the minister, Rev. Archibald Auld at 3 o'clock. The congregation by a rising vote returned their thanks to the Morgan people for their generous gift. Several persons were present from Morgan to attend the services, as well as folks from the First Church of Scottsdale and the Owensdale United Brethren Church. The official board of the church met on Saturday afternoon and took up the matter of repairing the church windows, purchasing new shades and putting in stained or frosted glass. An effort was made by some to have the clear glass put in and shades over them so as to adjust the light in the church to suit the weather, but the majority considered such a thing out of place in a church. So the windows will be filled with treated or stained glass.

Went to Cumberland. Dennis DeHaven was absent from his restaurant on Broadway yesterday, having gone to Cumberland. Not to spend the day with his mother, who lives there.

Has Returned Home. Mrs. Lulu Johnson, wife of Edward E. Johnson, a well known mill worker, has returned from Mount Alto where she has spent a few weeks for her health.

Home for Examination. Arthur L. Hixson, of the relay of the House Committee on Printing of Washington, D. C., arrived home for a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hixson of Lyerbrook and will take the preliminary law examination for Fayette county at Uniontown late next week. Robert Hixson, another young man of Lyerbrook, will also enter the examination early at church.

There was a congregational rally at the First Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday in a morning service. Rev. B. H. Mansfield, D. D., preached a special sermon on church upbuilding and in the evening the church under direction of leader B. A. Humphries rendered a splendid program of church music. Quite a large amount was paid up on the church debt, and the amount reduced noticeably.

Firemen's First Dance. The initial dance of a series to be given under the auspices of the Scottsdale Firemen's drum corps took place at the Temperance hall on Saturday evening and is reported to have been quite a success. Kleeberg's orchestra of Connellsville furnished the music. These dances will be held every two weeks.

Saturday Was Quiet. The big pay on Saturday caused a great deal of activity on the streets during the afternoon and evening and although the weather was remarkably cool for the season there was a large number out on the streets until late in the evening. The merchants did quite a cheering day's business and the moving picture houses took in the money in great quantities. The streets were quiet and but few arrests were made as the crowds were orderly and not disposed to full foul of the law.

Salvation Army Opening. The Salvation Army people from Connellsville opened their barracks in Scottsdale yesterday with three routing meetings at the Strawn hall on Bridge street. The opening of the campaign here was attended with encouraging results. There will be meetings tonight and Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to which all are invited.

Was at Uniontown. The funeral of Mary, the wife of Peter Mulligan, who died in Uniontown aged 59 years on Friday morning took place this morning the body being brought to Scottsdale on the morning train. It was then taken to the Wesley Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church, where Rev. Archibald Auld preached the funeral sermon at 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan were residents of the Chapel neighborhood until about 12 years ago when they moved to Uniontown. The deceased came of the Chain family and is survived by the brothers Frank and William, of this place and Hugh and Mrs. Joseph Baird, of near the Chapel.

Was at Uniontown. Charles H. Black, who is interested in coal lands, spent on Saturday morning until this evening in Uniontown on a business mission.

Real Estate Deals. Among real estate deals of a local interest recorded at Greensburg during the week were the following transfers: May 11, Kromer, lot in Scottsdale to Alexander Taylor for $11,000; J. E. Paltors, lot in Scottsdale to Alexander Taylor for $11,000; Sanford Huffercorn, lot in East Huntingdon township to J. E. Paltors for $550 and T. E. Lettzel, lot in Scottsdale, to Judson T. Strickler, for $1.

Head Election Tomorrow. The people of Scottsdale will vote on the issuing of $35,000 of bonds to complete the new High School building tomorrow.

WABASH FINANCES.

Extension to Connellsville Will Be a Big Money Maker.

Although the New York syndicate which managed the recent sale of $25,469,070 of common stock of the Western Maryland was left with most of the stock on its hands, it is a matter of common knowledge that these financial interests welcomed the opportunity to strengthen their holdings in this company, in the future of which they have unbounded confidence.

Based on the road's performance since it was reorganized, this faith appears justified. In itself the sale of the common stock at 50 for the purpose of constructing an 83 mile extension, which it is estimated will almost double the company's gross earnings, was one of the best pieces of financing accomplished in the Street in some time. Following as it did, an equally remarkable plan of reorganization, whereby about 97% of the security holders submitted to a heavy assessment, the company is prepared to go ahead with fixed charges of only $2,184,000 per annum, and has been able to provide the capital for its new extension without increasing them in any way.

Since the first of this year Western Maryland's earnings have shown an unusually large increase. No comparisons are available for the period previous to the beginning of the year for by order of the receiver the publication of these were suspended at the time. From January 1 to February 28, however, the company reported gross earnings of nearly $1,100,000 representing an increase over the corresponding two months of last year of $200,000 or 22.3%. Net after expenses and taxes was $461,000, an increase of $181,000, or 65%. Including other income, the balance for fixed charges amounted to $550,000, an increase of $240,800, or 70.6%.

Based on the total annual fixed charges, the proportion for the two months would amount to $354,000. The amount available from the earnings of the first two months of the year, therefore, was $192,000 in excess of the company's fixed charges January and February not essentially among the lightest months of the year, but using these figures as fixing a monthly average the company would appear to be earning at the rate of $1,182,000 in excess of fixed charges per annum. This amount is equal to 4% on the $10,000,000 preferred stock and 1.5% on the $20,000,000 common.

A number of the executive committee said the company's new extension from Cumberland, Md., to Connellsville when completed would increase the company's annual gross revenues by about $6,000,000. This estimate was made after going into every phase of the situation. For the moderate sum of $12,700,000 the company is as

Model B67 is very popular.

Assuming that the new extension which will be of the most modern construction in every respect can be operated for 50% of gross earnings, of the above estimated gross increase on its completion, fully $3,000,000 should be added for the stock. This would bring the available surplus per annum for the common up to between $1,700,000 to $4,000,000. The present property is operated at 57% of gross, including taxes. Officials of the company expect the property within three years to show earnings of 10% on the common. The above estimate equals 8% of the extension.

Enumeration of Rural Districts Has Been Finished. On Saturday the census officials closed and the reports of all enumerators will be in the hands of the supervisors of the census before the end of the week. The enumerators were allowed 15 days to complete their work in the cities, dating from April 15 while in the rural and in thinly populated sections 10 days were allowed for the enumeration.

TAFT ASSUMES ALL THE BLAME.

Explains His Letter of Vindication Sent to Ballinger.

SAYS ANOTHER WROTE OPINION

Ballinger's Stenographer Kerby Granted a Sit in Washington by Inferring Secretary of Interior Wrote His Own Exoneration.

Washington, May 16.—President Taft last night publicly assumed all responsibility for the Lawler memorandum in the Ballinger-Pinchot case and also for the producing of the Wickham opinion. These are the two features of the Ballinger-Pinchot case against which the enemies of the Taft administration have now trained their guns.

The president admits frankly that he requested Assistant Attorney General Lawler of the interior department to write and prepare an "opinion as to whether or not the president was or was not responsible for the case."

The president acknowledges also that he used some sentences of this opinion in his letter concerning Secretary Ballinger. With equal frankness the president says that Attorney General Wickham's analysis of the evidence in the case was predicated under his (the president's) instructions. "So as to show that my decision was fortified by his summary of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom."

The president makes it clear, however, that he carefully reviewed all the documents and evidence in the Ballinger-Pinchot case and had reached an absolute decision that Mr. Ballinger was guilty before he instructed Assistant Attorney General Lawler of Mr. Ballinger's office to prepare a letter to be used as the basis of the Taft exoneration. The president declares that he adopted this course merely as a means of saving time for himself, he was rushed with work and, he had indicated early to Lawler what he wished contained in the letter. The Lawler document, however, was unsatisfactory to Mr. Taft and he finally dictated his own letter using only a few sentences in the Lawler memorandum.

Kerby's Story.

Frederick M. Kerby, one of Secretary Ballinger's stenographers, charged that President Taft's letter concerning Secretary Ballinger was in substance the same as a memorandum prepared in the secretary's office and under his supervision by Oscar Lawler, as the attorney general for the interior department.

Soon after this charge had been made public the Lawler memorandum itself was introduced before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee. It is in the form of a letter from President Taft to Secretary Ballinger. A comparison of the two letters showed that two unimportant paragraphs of the Taft letter were almost identical with the Lawler document and there were other points of similarity such as might have arisen through the use by the president of the Lawler memorandum as a partial basis for his own communication.

The youthful stenographer in Secretary Ballinger's office, who himself took the dictation of the Lawler letter, charges further that all rough drafts of the letter, after the document had assumed its final form, were burned in an office in the department of the interior at the suggestion of Mr. Ballinger's secretary Stenographer Kerby adds that Don C. Carr, Mr. Ballinger's secretary, suggested also that it would be a good idea to lose certain notebooks containing stenographic minutes which might be called for in the congressional investigation.

Instant denial came from the White House that Assistant Attorney General Lawler prepared anything other than a memorandum for the president.

The developments have occasioned a lively sensation in Washington, where almost every man, woman and child is a Ballinger or a Pinchot partisan and inclined to grasp eagerly at every fact bearing on the case.

"I'LL SWIM," SAID CRAIG

And He Jumped Overboard to Save Foster Brother—Was Drowned.
Rices Landing, Pa., May 16.—After leaping into the chilly current of the Monongahela river that his two foster brothers might remain in the skiff, which had been overweighed, Grover Craig, twenty-five years old, was drowned while attempting to swim ashore.

Craig, with his two foster brothers had been collecting driftwood. They were about the middle of the stream when Craig noticed that the boat was low in the water. Craig directed his companions to take the boat to shore shouting "I'll swim!" he jumped into the river and started for shore. When about fifty feet from land he sank.

THREE DIE WHEN BOILERS LET GO.

Explosion at Coal Mine Near Brownsville,
Pa.

TOWN IS SHAKEN BY SHOCK

Six Persons Were Badly Injured—Batteries of Five Boilers Suddenly Let Go and Pieces of Iron Are Sent Flying in Every Direction.

Brownsville, Pa., May 16.—Three persons are dead and six persons are injured as a result of the explosion of a battery of five boilers at the Chevon plant of the Diamond Coal and Coke company on the Washington county bank of the Monongahela river near this place.

The conclusion was so great that windows were broken, china smashed and houses rocked half a mile and more from the scene of the accident. Several of those hurt were struck by flying pieces of iron while in their homes.

The Dead:
Peter Walsh, forty-five years old, killed outright; leaves a widow and two children.
William Adamson, electrical engineer, twenty-nine years old, killed outright; leaves a widow and five children.

Earl Bovard, freeman in the boiler room, died in hospital, thirty-four years old; leaves widow and one child.

The injured are Samuel Baker, Alex. Anderson, Kate Worrell, August Bruce, Charles Anderson and Jacob Chew. In addition to wrecking the boiler house and tipping over the top of it three houses were consumed by the fire, which followed the explosion, and the household effects of the occupants were destroyed. The people living in the houses were so badly frightened that they did not make any attempt to save any of their household goods until it was too late. In the neighborhood of the boiler house were about a dozen houses. Every one of these is more or less damaged from flying debris and it was in these that the most of the injured were.

No one will ever know the cause of the explosion, unless the inspectors are able to figure it out from the pieces of the boilers still standing.

CHAPTER II.

WHEREIN THE ANDROMEDA BEGINS HER VOYAGE.

THE second officer of the Andromeda was pacing the bridge with the slow aimlessness of responsibility. He would walk from port to starboard, glance forward and aft, peep at the wide crescent of the starlit sea, stroll back to port and again scan ship and horizon. Sometimes he halted in front of the binocular lamp to make certain that the man at the wheel was keeping the course, south 16 west, set by Captain Coke shortly before midnight. His ears listened mechanically to the steady pitter of the propeller, but his mind dwelt on something far removed from his duties, though, to be sure, every poet who ever scribbled four lines of verse has found rhyme and reason in comparing women with stars and ships and the sea.

If Philip Hoizer was no poet, he was a sailor, and sailors are notoriously susceptible to the charms of the softer sex. But the only woman he loved was his mother; the only bride he could look for during many a year was a mermaid, though these sprites of the deep waters seem to be frequenting undiscovered haunts since mariners ceased to woo the wind. For all that, if perhaps he was heart whole, there was no just cause or impellent why he should not admire a pretty girl when he saw one, and an exceedingly pretty girl had hovered him with her company during a brief minute of the previous day.

He was superintending the safe disposal of the last batch of cotton goods in the forward hold when a young lady, accompanied by a dock laborer carrying a leather suitcase, spoke to him from the quay.

"Is Captain Coke on board?" said she.

"No, madam," said he, lifting his cap with one hand.

"I am Mr. Verity's niece, and I wish to send this parcel to Montevideo. May I put it in some place where it will be safe?"

"Yes, sir," said Hoizer. And that is how it was that he discovered Iris Verity, looking very white and miserable, when the hatch of the Andromeda was broken open at half-past seven on Thursday morning.

A tramp steamer is not a complex organism. She is made up of holds, bunks, boilers and engines, with scanty accommodation for officers and crew grouped round the funnel or stuck in the bows. "Where the bunks were stowed off their tarantulas and a few lockers and storerooms examined the only available hiding places were the shaft tunnel, the holds and the lazarette, a small space between decks, situated directly above the propeller, where a reserve supply of provisions is generally carried.

But the door of the lazarette was locked and the key missing. There was nothing for it but to force the lock.

It was dark in there, and Hoizer was undeniably startled by the spectacle of a slim figure, wrapped in a long white sheet, standing among the coals and packages.

"Now, out you come!" he cried, with a gruffness that was intended only to cover his own amazement, but Iris, despite the horrors of senility and confinement in the dark was not minded to suffer what she considered to be impertinence on the part of a second officer.

"I am Miss Verity," she said, coming forward into the half light of the lower deck. "Any explanation of my presence here will be given to the captain and to no other person."

"That innocent word 'person' is capable of many meanings," Hoizer felt that his application to himself was distinctly unfavorable. And Iris was quite dignified and self-possessed. She had given a few deft touches to her hair.

"Of course I did not know to whom I was speaking," he managed to say, for he now recognized the "ghost" and was more surprised than he had ever been in his life before.

"What is misterious," said Iris rigidly. "Where is Captain Coke?"

"On the bridge," said Philip. "I will go to him. Please don't come with me. I tried to tell you that I would unlock the door, but you refused to listen. Will you let me pass?"

Iris hurried to the deck. The light seemed to dazzle her, and her steps were so uncertain that Hoizer sprang forward and caught her arm.

"You're not sick down a moment, Miss Verity?" he said. "If you searched the whole ship you could not have chosen a worse place to travel in than the lazarette."

"I was driven out twice at night by the rats," she gasped.

"Too bad!" he whispered. "But it was your own fault. Why did you do it? At any rate, wait here a few minutes before you meet the captain."

"I am not afraid of meeting him. Why should I be? He knows me."

"I meant only that you are hardly able to walk, but I seem to say the wrong thing every time. There is nothing really to worry about. We are not far from Queenstown. We can put you ashore there by losing half a day."

The girl had been ill, racked in body and distraught in mind, but she summoned a half laugh at his words.

"You are still saying the wrong thing, Mr. Hoizer," she murmured. "The Andromeda will not put into Queenstown. From this hour I become a passenger, not a stowaway. My uncle knows now that I am here. Thank you. I have quite recovered. Captain Coke is on the bridge, you said? I can find my way. This ship is no stranger to me."

THE SOISSON.

Howell & Keith Stock Company.

The Howell & Keith Stock Company will inaugurate their second week of voicings, while the ship was plodding steadily southward with that fifteen point inclination to the west that would take her far into the Atlantic soon after daybreak. Philip remembered Mr. Verity's niece and felt sorry that when she paid former visits to the Andromeda she had decreed that he should be serving his time on another vessel. It gave him a thrill when he heard that this charming girl knew his uncle, and it seemed to him for an instant that she was looking into his very soul, analyzing him, searching for some sign that he was not as others, which meant that there were some whom she had bitter cause to distrust.

At any rate, she had left a memento of her too brief appearance on board in the shape of the bag. He would contrive to take on his own shoulders its mission in Montevideo. Then on returning to Liverpool he would have an excuse for calling on her. He did not know her name yet. Possibly Captain Coke would mention that interesting fact when his temper lost its raw edge.

It was strange that he should be thinking of Iris far stronger than he could guess, but his thoughts were subconscious, and he was far too wise neglecting the safety of the ship.

Hoizer heard Coke reading the riot act to the shellbacks who were supposed to keep a sharp lookout ahead. But the captain did not monopolize the conversation. His deep eyes rumbled only at intervals. The men had something to say. He returned to the bridge.

"One of them scallywags sez 'e 'as seen a ghost," he announced with the calm air of a man who states that the moon will rise during the next hour.

"Oh, is he the man who reported a ghost outside the lazarette last night?"

"I s'pose so. Did 'e tell you about it? That's where she walks."

"Gee!"

"That's his par-a-menee ghost, a black 'un, black clo'es a'nyhow. I'll like the forenoon watch, an' you might overhaul the ship for stowaways after breakfast."

"Yes, sir," said Hoizer. And that is how it was that he discovered Iris Verity, looking very white and miserable, when the hatch of the Andromeda was broken open at half-past seven on Thursday morning.

HARMON DOES NOBLY

Aviator Gives Fine Exhibition of Flying in Aeroplans.

Garden City, L. I., May 15.—About 1,500 persons cheered Clifford R. Harmon when he made an aeroplane flight of what he estimated to be about twenty-two miles over Hempstead Plains.

This is the longest flight made about New York with the exception of one made by Wilbur Wright from Governor's Island to Grant's tomb and return and the flight of Glenn H. Curtiss.

GOING TO EUROPE?

Better Make Your Arrangements and Secure Your Passage at Once.

Ocean travel will be very heavy this summer. If you are going abroad, you had better see Manager Anton Ruckowicz, of the Foreign Department of the First National Bank of Connellsville, as soon as possible. He will furnish you with a name on any desired line, at the lowest rates, and reserve your cabin or berth, also provide you with a Letter of Credit or Traveler's Cheques, secure your passport and give you all necessary information. The First National is the only steamship agency in this section for all the lines in both the Continental and Mediterranean service. Call anytime, at 16 Main street, for full particulars. All languages spoken.

Are You Paying Too Much for Your Clothes?

Does the Investment Return to You Full Value in Service, Comfort and Style.

Cost is a relative term. Whether or not you are paying too much for your clothes depends on what you get as compared with what you pay. If the man who is thinking of buying a suit will compare, not prices—for all good clothes shops ask about the same—but compare the garments offered at the same price, he will wear a Wright-Metzler Company Suit.

We invite comparison because we know how our clothes are made and that they will stand the test—and it does not require an expert to detect it. To begin with, they are properly designed, have good lines and are of pleasing proportions. Only the best materials are used in finishing and every little detail has been carefully looked after. The less expensive lines have handwork wherever it is essential and at $20 and over all garments are strictly hand-tailored, fitted on forms and built to shape. The woollens and patterns (many of them exclusive) can be judged only by examination, and we are always pleased to show them. The number of models, range of sizes and proportions insure a perfect fit.
